

NURS 7200

The Discipline of Scientific Writing

Nancy Lowe

PhD, CNM, FACNM, FAAN

Professor, University of Colorado
Editor-in-Chief, Journal of Obstetric, Gynecologic, and Neonatal Nursing

Concentrating on clear, logical thinking as the most important element in manuscript communication, students will develop the discipline of writing by focusing on writing roadmaps, precision and concision of words, and common writing pitfalls in the context of expectations for scientific publishing.

Many students have papers accepted for publication as a result of the work in this course.
